CM meets PM

Siddharamaiah in Delhi, urges Defence Minister Rajnath Singh to facilitate IAF Air Show during Dasara-2023

New Delhi, Aug. 3 (KMS & BCT)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah met Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the Parliament Complex here this morning.

This is Siddharamaiah's first meeting with the PM since becoming the Chief Minister of Karnataka in May. The CM felicitated the PM with a sandalwood garland, shawl, Mysore Peta, presented a sandalwood memento of Dasara Ambari Elephant and exchanged pleasantries.

Siddharamaiah is in Delhi to attend a meeting convened by the Congress National leadership to prepare for 2024 Lok Sabha polls. "I have not been able to meet Modi since I became the Chief Minister. The last time I was in Delhi, the PM was away on a foreign tour. This time, I was given time and I met him," Siddharamaiah said.

Chief Minister Siddharamaiah presenting a sandalwood memento of Dasara Ambari Elephant to Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi this morning.

Sources said that the CM sought PM's intervention on various issues related to Karnataka. Siddharamaiah is said to have raised the issue of release of rice for his Government's Anna Bhagya Scheme as in June, the Centre stopped the sale of food grains to States from Food Corporation of India (FCI) stocks.

The meeting comes at a time when PM Modi has been critical of the populist guarantee schemes launched by Karnataka Government. In his recent addresses, Modi had said that the schemes would empty the State treasury, weaken the State and put the future of youth in danger.

After meeting Modi, Siddaramaiah met Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and requested him to hold an Air Show by the Indian Air Force (IAF) in Mysuru during Dasara (Oct. 15 to 24).

The CM told the Defence Minister that the recent Dasara High-Power Committee meeting had made a decision to hold an Air Show as a major attraction apart from its traditional aspects. He said the IAF had conducted Air Shows at the Torchlight Parade Grounds in Mysuru in 2017 and 2019 and the show was well received by the people of Mysuru and Karnataka.

Siddharamaiah also met Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and discussed issues related to Karnataka including GST share and then called on Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge.

Later, he met Union Road Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari.

75% of Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway accidents due to over-speeding

New Delhi, Aug. 3 (Agencies)- Over the past six months, the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway has experienced a concerning increase in accidents, with a significant number involving two-wheelers.

The data released by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways indicates that approximately 65-75 percent of these accidents were a result of over-speeding, with vehicles surpassing the speed limits of 80-100 kmph.

To address this issue and mitigate the risks posed by slow-moving vehicles, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has taken a decisive action.

Ministry of Road Transport and Highways releases statistics

The Expressway has recorded a total of 398 accidents and 121 fatalities. The section from Nidaghatta to Mysuru has experienced 209 accidents and 62 deaths while Bengaluru to Nidaghatta accounted for 189 accidents and 59 deaths.

Starting from Aug. 1, the NHAI has imposed a ban on motorcycles, autorickshaws and non-motorised vehicles from using the main carriageway. These types of vehicles have been identified as major contributors to the accidents.

Data from the Ministry further highlights that a staggering 30 percent of reported accidents involved two-wheelers, leading to fatalities and severe injuries. Additionally, around 25 percent of the accidents were due to rear-end collisions, primarily caused by slow-moving vehicles occupying the right-most lane and disregarding lane discipline.

To Our Readers

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

In 2018, massive landslides hit Kodagu, destroying hundreds of acres of coffee plantations and razing many houses to the ground, but neither the local people nor the authorities have learnt any lessons from the catastrophe. Nearly 50 villages disappeared, the topography of the affected areas became unrecognisable, rivers changed course and thousands of people were rendered homeless. The district had not witnessed a devastation of this magnitude ever in its history. Geologists and environmentalists had then said one of the main factors for the landslides was deforestation — it had contributed to the loosening of soil during heavy rainfall. The flattening of hill tops for construction had allowed rain water to enter rock fractures, leading to an increase in the ground water level.

Now, activists led by the Madikeri-based Environment and Health Foundation (India) have raised a red flag over the unchecked conversion of agricultural land for commercial use. The dilution of the Karnataka Land Reforms Act of 1961, enabling direct purchase of agricultural land from farmers, has further worsened the situation. Meanwhile, both the Madhav Gadgil and Kasturirangan reports, which had recommended several measures to save the Western Ghats, remain in cold storage. While there are concerns that their implementation could impact the livelihood of the local populace, there is a need for the Government to find a balance between protecting the fragile environment of the region and safeguarding the genuine interests of the people. Instead, the Union Government plans to lay two Railway lines, ignoring protests from environmentalists. This is a recipe for disaster. An analysis of the 2018 landslides by Dr. K.C. Dayananda, Assistant Professor at the Government First Grade College, Madikeri, had identified several causes and suggested steps to prevent their recurrence. The Government should implement this report and declare Kodagu an eco-sensitive region so that further damage can be prevented and the picturesque district can be saved for posterity. — In Deccan Herald

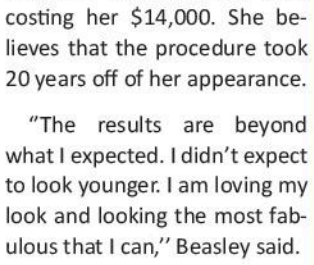
Woman sells house to pay for facelift surgery



New York: A woman in the US was so obsessed with looking young and beautiful, sold her three-bedroom house to fund her facelift procedure.

Kelly Beasley, 50, now lives full-time in a van, using it to travel around the country. However, she does not regret her decision and says that it was all worth it as it has made her look better. She has been getting Botox since her late 20s and fillers for the last 15 years. When she felt those procedures were no longer making a visible difference, she thought of taking more drastic measures.

The blogger then travelled to Mexico on February 13 to get the surgery which involved taking fat from her thighs and putting it in her lips and face, costing her $14,000. She believes that the procedure took 20 years off of her appearance.

"The results are beyond what I expected. I didn't expect to look younger. I am loving my look and looking the most fabulous that I can," Beasley said.

Company turns recycled water into beer

California: A California company parlayed its water recycling expertise into the creation of a beer made from a San Francisco residential building's wastewater.

Epic Cleantec, a San Francisco-based water treatment company, teamed with Devil's Canyon Brewing Co. to create Epic OneWater Brew, a Kölsch-style ale made using recycled water from showers, sinks and washing machines in Fifteen Fifty, a 40-story luxury apartment building.

The beer is not currently for sale due to regulations banning recycled wastewater from being used in commercial beverages, but it proved to be a big hit at a conference on sustainable building technologies.

Unscientific humps on
Mysuru-Mandya service road

Sir,

A couple of days back I travelled between Mysuru and Mandya taking the service road parallel to the Expressway. Traffic was less on this road and the condition of the road is good and motorable, but for the innumerable number of unscientific road humps.

There are 22 road humps between Mysuru and Mandya, spoiling the driving mood and causing damages to the vehicle chassis. Most of these humps are just a vertical mount, which cannot be called as road humps by any standards.

There are no indications of the approaching humps at most of the locations. Some locations do have well-designed hump indicators helping the motorists.

It appears that humps are being added to this road at the whims and fancies of the road contractor / sub-contractor, because I saw workers digging at two locations to install new road humps.

For the safety of the motorists, it is definitely advisable to have road humps on this road, to curtail the acceleration at cross roads. But the humps need to be properly designed with reflecting indicators warning the motorists of the road humps ahead of them.

Govt. orders to set up Police Outpost atop Chamundi Hill

Extend jurisdiction of Saraswathipuram, Vijayanagar, Alanahalli, Mysore South Police Stations: GTD

Mysuru, Aug. 3 (KMS&BCT)- In a significant move, the State Government has issued orders to immediately open a Police Outpost atop Chamundi Hill. The decision was made by Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara, in response to the rising population and the need for improved security measures in the area.

Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda, who gave a representation in this regard to the Home Minister, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah and Chief Secretary Vandita Sharma, hailed the move and stated that the outpost would play a crucial role in ensuring the safety and security of the pilgrims and tourists who visit the Chamundeshwari Temple atop the Hill, especially during Dasara festival and Navarathri celebrations.

The Chamundi Hill, known for its spiritual significance and breathtaking scenic beauty, attracts lakhs of devotees and tourists every year. With the growing number of visitors, the need for enhanced Police presence and safety measures became evident, prompting the Government to take this step, he said.

The decision also aims to curb criminal activities and accidents in the surrounding areas. As the current Police Station's jurisdiction is limited, incidents sometimes go unattended, causing inconvenience and concern to the public. The expansion and establishment of new outposts are expected to address this issue effectively.

Chamundeshwari Constituency comprises Mysuru city limits and rural areas, with an extensive network of Police Stations covering different regions. The upgradation and expansion of select Police Stations' boundaries are in consideration, the Home Minister told the MLA.

Some of the areas that come under the Constituency include Hootagalli City Municipal Council, Srirampura, Bogadi, Rammanahalli and Kadakola Town Panchayats and over 18 Gram Panchayats. There are 17 Police Stations in the city limits and three Police Stations in rural limits and many people have to travel over 20 kilometres to reach a Police Station, Devegowda told the CM.

Police jurisdiction

The Chamundeshwari MLA urged the extension of Saraswathipuram Police Station to cover Bogadi, Maratikyathnahalli and Dasanakoppalu. Likewise, Alanahalli Police Station, Mysore South Police Station and Vijayanagar Police Station must have wider jurisdiction to include more developing areas beyond the city limits, he added.

He has suggested that a proper survey be carried out to include schools and record details in the survey number book, in order to avoid any inconveniences caused by the unclear Police boundary situation.

To reduce the tension and ease the situation with better administration and policing, the MLA has asked the Government to adjust and set right the Police jurisdictional boundaries of Belavadi, Yelwal and Vijayanagar Police Station areas and recommended measures to resolve disputes related to the village borders.

Inclusion of new areas will streamline law enforcement operations and ensure prompt response to emergencies. This move promises to create a safer environment for residents, devotees and tourists, the MLA added.

Nivedithanagar Indoor Stadium works limping even after 6 years, citizens demand early completion

Mysuru, Aug.3 (SPN&TRR)- The works of Nivedithanagar Indoor Stadium in MCC Ward No. 45, which started six years ago, is progressing at a snail's pace.

The foundation stone for the Indoor Stadium at Nivedithanagar to be built under Public Private Participation (PPP) model, was laid by Chief Minster Siddharamaiah and in the presence of then District in-charge Minister H.S. Mahadevaprasad.

The Stadium was estimated to be built at a cost of Rs. 4.43 crore and foundation stone was laid for Badminton Court and Swimming Pool. But even after six years, the works are still incomplete and concerned authorities are excusing themselves by citing technical reasons, complain the citizens of the area.

The proposal to have a swimming pool was shelved in the absence of financial grants and the works of badminton court, estimated at Rs.2 crore, was started. This work too never gathered pace and after so many years it is nearing completion. Though the citizens of the city are insisting for a swimming pool too, it is learnt that the City Corporation has expressed its inability to provide required financial grants.

In absence of the usage of the stadium, the area marked for the purpose is now full of plants and shrubs providing shelter to snakes and scorpions which frequently intrude into the surrounding house. The citizens have appealed the concerned authorities to clear the debris at the earliest.

JD(S) leader Harish and a resident of the area says that city's Saraswathipuram Swimming Pool, JP Nagar Swimming Pool (PPP model) and Chamundi Vihar Swimming Pool are open and are being managed. But the residents of Sharadadevinagar and surrounding areas do not have a swimming pool. "We need one here and will fight for it at the Corporation level," said Harish.

"The foundation stone was laid for the badminton court six years ago. The works are nearing completion and the building will be ready for inauguration soon," said Corporator Nirmala Harish.

"Preparations were on in 2017 itself for the renovation of the swimming pool near Shanthala Talkies and construction of swimming pools in Nivedithanagar and Hebbal under PPP model. But works of this stadium are in cold storage for long. In 2017, when Siddharamaiah was the CM, he had released a special grant of Rs. 1 crore which was used to provide compound wall towards construction of the building," said former Corporator Jagadish.

Delegates hail Tipu's Summer Palace, natural colour frescoes

Mysuru, Aug. 3 (Vinay Karekura &BCT)- After three days of deliberations inside the conference hall of Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel here, delegates of the G20's Think20 Summit visited the historical town of Srirangapatna last evening and saw a couple of places including the Daria Daulat Bagh.

The delegates, from over 41 countries visited Daria Daulat Bagh, Tipu Sultan's Summer Palace and were captivated by the grandeur of the Indo-Saracenic style Palace that was built over 240 years ago. They were intrigued by the artistic pillars, balconies and the natural-coloured frescoes.

Inside the Palace's artefact gallery, they observed the clothing worn by Tipu, the weapons and firearms he used, the throne accessories and the portraits of his three sons, along with images of military officers and scenes of the fall of Srirangapatna.

A 11-member tour guide team from Mysuru, led by Rupesh, briefed the delegates about the significance of the Palace. For about an hour and ten minutes, the group marvelled at the Palace and captured images of the grandeur using their cameras and mobile phones.

"The Summer Palace, entirely made of wood, is mesmerising. The paintings depicting the wars fought by Hyder Ali and Tipu Sultan with the British are astonishing, even after two centuries. This historic palace, witnessing several events, is truly delightful to see," said Patrick, a representative from Argentina.

The delegates were welcomed by Assistant Commissioner Nandish and Tahsildar G. Ashwini. Women offered them a traditional 'purna-kumbha' welcome and folk artistes performed Veeragase and drums.

Deputy Director of the Department of Tourism T. Rangaswamy, Superintendent of Tipu Palace Sriguru, Municipal Chief Officer Rani, Assistant Director of Archaeology Department Sunil and others were present.

The team headed towards Sriranganathaswamy Temple. However, they did not enter the Temple complex.

The delegates later visited the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam.

Special illumination at Mysore Palace arranged with Police Band performance

The delegates came back to the Mysore Palace from KRS where a special illumination awaited them. Welcoming the delegates, Mysuru Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya explained the mechanism of illumination and its significance to the delegates.

The delegates personally saw how the Palace, built in the Indo-Saracenic style, came alive when it was illuminated with about 1 lakh incandescent bulbs. The bulbs, fixed in a synchronised pattern, are switched on in one go to spread a golden hue on the century-old structure.

Subramanya told the delegates that for the illumination, a team of officers, electrical engineers, electricians and workers ensure proper and faultless process. The Palace illumination has rarely witnessed any malfunction, he said. In the backdrop of the illuminated Palace, the Police band performed and the guests were enthralled by the traditional performance. Over 40 members English Band and 40 members Karnataka Band performed.

To give a royal ambience, over 20 Mounted Police personnel were stationed at the gates to welcome the delegates and the historical horse mounted Police team also made their presence during Police Band performance.

Today, after the visit to Chennakeshava Temple at Somanathapura, the delegates are scheduled to visit the Sri Chamundeshwari Temple atop the Chamundi Hill.

"The concluding evening of the Think20 India Summit in Mysuru — special performances and sights — truly a fitting conclusion to the 8 month long intense exercise focused on ideas and research. Next four months will be special too. A sensational conclusion," tweeted Samir Saran, Chair, T20 India Secretariat and Member, T20 India Core Group. Technocrats attend IPPTA seminar at CFTRI

Mysuru, Aug. 3 (BLU&BCT)- A two-day Annual General Meeting and Seminar of Indian Pulp and Paper Technical Association, (IPPTA) began this morning at CSIR-CFTRI in the city.

The seminar's focus is on the theme "Replacing single-use plastic with paper, with emphasis on food packaging." Stakeholders from India and overseas, machinery suppliers and research institutions are presenting papers and discussing the progress made and challenges faced in the transition from single-use plastic to paper in various applications, particularly food packaging.

The inaugural guests included Deputy General Manager, Sustainable Products and Packaging, ITC Secunderabad, P.N. Sridhar, IPPTA President Ganesh Bhadti, Honorary Secretary General M.K. Goyal, CFTRI Director Dr. Sridevi Annapurna Singh and Chairman of the Programme Committee Rajeshwar S. Matche.

Sridhar said that "Paper is often lauded as a far more environmentally friendly alternative. Historically, papers have been used in flexible packaging for many applications, including confectionery, wet food and dried food."

After many years of declining demand, paper-based flexible packaging is growing in popularity as end-consumers demand more sustainable packaging solutions, he added. Paper is far more biodegradable than plastic and very easily recycled, Sridhar noted.

Packaging producers and Governments need to accept the nuance of sustainability in packaged goods and push for new priorities across different packaging types in order to create the best solution for the environment, Sridhar opined. The event is hosting over 350 technocrats including paper technologists, engineers, scientists, and administrators from around the world.

The collaboration between IPPTA and CSIR-CFTRI aims to address statutory requirements, product specifications and challenges ahead in replacing single-use plastic with paper. Scientists from CSIR-CFTRI will share their expertise, while representatives from the paper industry will discuss their initiatives and roadblocks in this transition.

The seminar will seek Government support to strictly implement the ban on single-use plastic to protect nature. The concerted efforts of paper mills, CFTRI and technology providers are crucial to expedite the development and adoption of paper-based alternatives.

Moreover, the data revealed a concerning trend among car drivers and bike riders on the Expressway. These drivers and riders were often traveling at speeds as high as 160 kmph, endangering their lives and the lives of others.

In response to these issues, the NHAI has provided an alternative solution for slow-moving vehicles. They can now utilise toll-free two-lane service roads located on both sides of the Expressway. However, there are currently three gaps in the service road due to Railway overbridges at Bidadi, Ramanagara, Channapatna, and Mandya.

To address this gap in the service road, the NHAI has allowed vehicles to use the old Mysuru Road — a part of the Expressway — at these points. This permits two- and three-wheelers to travel along the service roads for 79.6 km and 35.4 km on the old Mysuru Road to reach their desired destinations. For commuters who wish to access towns along the Expressway, the service road is also made available.

Furthermore, the Ministry has ambitious plans to make the service road continuous throughout the entire 118-km-long Expressway. This will be achieved by constructing three road overbridges on it. Additionally, the NHAI will enhance the bypassed portion of the old Mysuru-Bengaluru Road to further improve connectivity.

Since the Expressway was thrown open for traffic, it has recorded a total of 398 accidents and 121 fatalities. Notably, the section of the project from Nidaghatta to Mysuru has experienced 209 accidents and 62 deaths, surpassing the figures for the first package between Bengaluru and Nidaghatta, which accounted for 189 accidents and 59 deaths.

These statistics were brought to the attention of the Lok Sabha by Minister of Road Transport and Highways, Nitin Gadkari, on July 27, emphasising the need for proactive measures to ensure road safety on the Expressway.

AI-based cameras stop working on Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway

Mandya, Aug. 3 (Mohan Raj& BCT)- The solar-powered Artificial Intelligence (AI)-based cameras [Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) installed on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway on July 29, hours before the scheduled visit of CM Siddharamaiah, has stopped working since yesterday.

The cameras were installed near Amaravathi Hotel — near Ummadahalli Gate — that is 93-km from Bengaluru. Till the evening of Aug. 1, speeding vehicles were penalised at the Gananguru and Kanaminike Toll Plazas but now the cameras have stopped functioning. The officers of National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) were not available for comments.

Meanwhile, a total of 137 cases were booked on the first day (Aug. 1) on the Expressway for violations, after a ban was imposed on two and three wheelers starting from Aug. 1, informed the Ramanagara Police. Only fast-moving vehicles such as cars, buses, trucks and other heavy vehicles are allowed to ply on this south India's first Expressway.

The Police had installed huge notice boards and displays at the entrance of the Expressway to control the bikes, tractors and autorickshaws. Two-wheelers that tried to enter were diverted to the service road, and those who entered the highway even after the warning, got fined Rs. 500 at the exit point.

In a Twitter post, Ramanagara Police said, "Entry and movement of two-wheelers and three-wheelers have been restricted on Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway. 137 cases of rule violation have been registered and a fine of Rs. 68,500 has been imposed on the first day."

KSRTC drivers told to maintain 80-km speed limit

Bengaluru, Aug. 3 (BS)- With National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) banning two-wheelers, autorickshaws, tractors and non-motorised vehicles, multi-axle hydraulic trailer vehicles and quadricycle on Access Controlled 10-lane Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) has also issued a few directions to its bus drivers to avoid accidents on the Expressway.

KSRTC has instructed the drivers to maintain the maximum speed of 80 km per hour in covering 118-km long distance between Mysuru and Bengaluru. Barring the third lane, only first and second lanes must be used by KSRTC buses. While overtaking other vehicles in the front, they have to follow the proper method.

Apart from following the lane discipline, the drivers should have an eye on side mirror too and compulsorily use the indicators to take a turn while changing the lane. Apart from maintaining the maximum speed limit of 80-km, the divers should also be careful of 25 black spots identified by ADGP (Traffic and Road Safety) Alok Kumar, KSRTC authorities have told in the set of instructions given to their drivers.

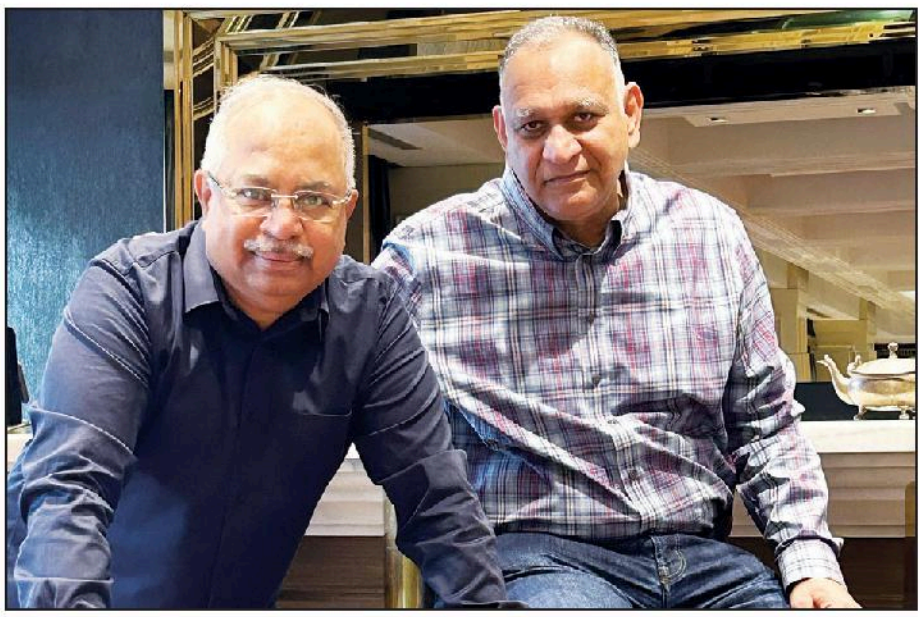
Wimbledon-2023

A Dream Fulfilled - I



Col. Sharath Bhat (left) with his friend Manwant Walia.

After serving the Indian Army for 24 years, Col. Sharath Bhat has settled in Mysuru, at Sankalp Central Park, Yadavagiri, since 2004. Though he basically belongs to Surathkal, Mangaluru, he was born and educated in Delhi and then joined the Indian Army. During his school days, Sharath and his friend Manwant Walia had dreamt of watching the Wimbledon from the Centre Court itself at some point in their life and that childhood wish, made nearly 47 years back, was fulfilled on 6th July 2023 when the bosom friends made it to the Centre Court.

Col. Sharath Bhat, presently serving at Kaynes Technology, Mysuru, as President, International Business, heading the Market and New Initiatives, narrates his experience and excitement of being at the Wimbledon. Read on...

By Col. Sharath Bhat

[With thoughts from Manwant Walia]

Delhi during early sixties and seventies was a city of Government servants or "Babus" as they were respectfully called. Large number of Government accommodation came up in South Delhi. Kendriya Vidyalaya (KV) was started to cater for Defence Services and Government servants, whose kids needed to get good education and could be accommodated during their parents' mid-year transfers.

I grew up in late sixties and early seventies in such a Colony in South Delhi, which fortunately also had a KV for absorbing young kids of transferable jobs. I remember those days in our school, we had a lovely amalgam of cross culture of every State of India. Most of our Colonies had standard layouts, with a rectangular central vacant area for recreation and all along were the row of double-storied houses.

Growing up was a fusion of outdoor games with your neighbours' kids and a healthy session in school under our able and talented class teachers. Most of us brought our lunch boxes from the houses and few lucky ones had their mothers coming during lunch hour to deliver hot lunch boxes. It was a sight to see all of them, clad in simple sarees, standing outside the perimeter of the school, waiting patiently for the lunch bell to ring. The lunch hour used to be a heady experience with tasting of various cuisine packed lovingly by mothers and the favourite were always the lunch boxes of South Indian students.

During such beautiful school days, we made friends who have stood the test of time and are still closely meshed and intertwined in each other's lives. We also dreamt of our future and what we would do in our later life. Being outdoor passionate students, self and one such bosom friend had made a pact with each other. The pact was simple one, that at some point in our life, we would get together to watch the Wimbledon from the Centre Court itself. Was it silly or was it a dream, both of us did not know, but still we had made a wish, lying on the grass of our humble park, staring at the sky full of stars, maybe a child's dream, but definitely something to live for.

Life took us on our separate destinies. I joined the Defence Services, saw all the jungles, mountains and deserts of India and my bosom friend decided to try his destiny in USA. Our friendship never faltered. We always remained in touch, even during the era of no mobiles and no connectivity in remote Army Stations. Used letters, though maybe once a year, but knew what the other was doing. My life took a turn as I decided to prematurely resign my commission and joined the corporate sector. This infused our friendship with a new life. As now I travelled to USA and actually met him and his growing family. He also came to India and stayed with my family.

That's the time, somewhere in 2019, we remembered our childhood days and the pact of going to view a day's match at the Centre Court of the Wimbledon. He had by this time started playing the game and had become a big time follower of tennis. He had been to US Open but never ever ventured to London for the iconic Wimbledon. I being in the army was a natural player of both tennis/squash and loved the game.

Our planning started but unfortunately, COVID stole two years of everyone's life. However as our age advanced, our enthusiasm to witness grew more, we decided without further confusion that year of 2023 would be the year when we would attend this marvellous and beautiful game at the Centre Court of Wimbledon. Initially plan was for both of us to go, he will plan to come from USA and I from India, but later we included our supporting spouses too, in our grandiose plans.

Never imagined that getting the tickets for the event would present such difficulties. Before we realised, all the online tickets had vanished in September 2022 itself. Without batting an eyelid we decided that we would pay any amount, but be present on 6th July 2023 at the Centre Court. My bosom friend from USA took on himself to go after the tickets, plan the stay in the hotel and the complete itinerary. Somewhere in April 2023, he could lay his hands on the tickets and our plans finalised. My work took me to New Jersey and one evening over a beer and cards, we gave final touches to our plan.

Minor health issues for both of us cropped up in May and June. He underwent a surgery and was required to take two weeks rest and I had unexpected BP fluctuations, just days before boarding our flight. Our spirit remained cheerful and our doctors gave us green signal to proceed with the "once in a life time, dream come true, vacation."

Both the couples reached London on 4th July, albeit from different routes and met at the designated hotel. While hugging my friend, I could feel the same excitement of a child who had made that promise to me, nearly 47 years back. I also could not control my emotions, our eyes gleamed and we laughed at every silly talk we made. Big day was in two days' time and ladies had planned to enjoy visits to a few famous eateries like Dishoom and also pace out all the famous sights of London.

Visit to Dishoom restaurant at Covent Garden was an experience which needs to be retold separately. Needless to suffice that we enjoyed standing in line for 45 minutes under the constant pounding rains, with umbrella and a hot cup of tea provided by the eatery. Never in our life have we waited for so long, for having food. But yes every good thing in life comes with a price.

Now a word about Wimbledon and the famed Centre Courts. Wimbledon has been there for more than 150 years. The Club was founded on 23rd July 1868 as The All England Croquet Club. Its name was changed in 1877 to The All England Croquet and Lawn Tennis Club and in 1899 to The All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club. On 1st August 2011 the Club was converted into a company limited by guarantee under the name The All England Lawn Tennis & Croquet Club Limited.

Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, G.C.V.O is the Patron of the Club and one can see the richness of this Club, in the way it presents itself.

WORD OF THE DAY

Homily

Pronunciation: HAH-muh-lee.
Meaning: A homily is a usually short talk on a religious or moral topic. Homily may also refer to an inspirational catchphrase, or to a trite or stale remark.
Origin: Gather round for a succinct history of homily. The story starts with the ancient Greek word homilos, meaning "crowd" or "assembly," and travels through related Greek words homilein, "to address," and homilia, "conversation, discourse." Homilia eventually takes on the "usually short sermon" meaning in our modern homily, and then is incorporated into the Latin used by writers of the early first millennium. It reaches English speakers of the 14th century by way of Anglo-French, but when it arrives it's spelled omelie. By the mid-16th century the "h" is back, and the "y" of the modern spelling has found its place. A side note to our tale is this: be careful not to confuse homily with hominy, a 17th century word of Virginia Algonquian origin denoting a key ingredient in the Mexican soup posole (which, if we may be so corny, is a dish worth preaching about).
Example: "His rich baritone voice and charismatic delivery have labeled him a distinguished motivational speaker and preacher who delivers homilies on topics regarding hope, forgiveness, faith, prosperity, relationships, and other pertinent issues involving the human condition." — Yolanda Baruch, Forbes, 7 Mar. 2023

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Hung out to dry

Meaning: To leave someone or something behind; to be abandoned, especially at a time of difficulty.
Origin: The origin of this phrase might come from the practice of people hanging their wet clothes outside to dry. Why would a person dry their clothes in this way? For one, it is cheaper than using an electric dryer. While it's true that an electric washer and dryer are convenient to have, they can be expensive. Plus, using them frequently increases the cost of a person's monthly electrical bill. On the other hand, hanging wet clothes outside and letting the sun and air do all the work is easier on one's wallet; it's effective too! Well, in the warmer seasons anyway. So this is likely where the saying "hung out to dry" comes from—people hanging their wet clothes out to dry. This might also explain how the expression got its "to be abandoned or left behind" meaning, because after hanging up their clothes, people then leave the clothes for hours, giving them time to dry.
